Overview

You need the edge – the tools and techniques that makes you more attractive to the customer than your competition. Some sales executives do sell themselves more effectively than others. And they seem to naturally know how to negotiate, influence and persuade effortlessly. And it is definitely the result of using a powerful set of Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) communication and influencing skills effectively; skills that anyone can easily learn.

Finally, in sales psychology a sale is always made – either you sold your ideas to your distributors or your distributors sold you the reasons why they are not buying your ideas. So, the Sales Director in the end gets either a result or a reason from his sales executives. Which would you choose: the "result" or the "reason"? Get the "results" you want with "Supercharge Your Sales Applying Psychology & NLP For More Profits".
